CSU SUMMER ARTS RELEASES FOUR WEEKS ARTS FESTIVAL CALENDAR IN JULY

Program Brings an Array of Artists to Fresno State for Performances Open to the Public

(Fresno, Calif.) The Fresno State campus comes alive with dance, music, comedy, poetry and art this July as Summer Arts returns for another inspired arts festival season.

For more than 30 years, CSU Summer Arts has assembled dozens of the world's top creatives to be a part of our annual Festival -- to perform and to teach our students. For the festival, we produce more than 25 live events so members of the local community can see the world-class talent with their own eyes.

Calendar highlights include:

Spectrum Dance Theater, a dance company led by visionary Donald Byrd based out of Seattle, Washington with regional and national significance (July 2 at 7 p.m.)

An Evening of Comedy, an evening of belly-aching laughter, satire, curiosity, and a wee bit of snarkiness with comics from stage and screen (July 7 at 7.p.m.)

Stage Combat, a lecture detailing the ins and outs of stage combat choreography, and demonstration how they make everything look so real on stage and screen (July 16 at 7p.m.)

Bob Dotson, former NBC National News Correspondent and one of the most honored storytellers of our time will host a lecture on storytelling (July 19 at 7p.m.)

Tickets for the 2018 CSU Summer Arts Festival season are now on sale online www.csusummerarts.org. Tickets can be purchased at the Fresno State box office starting June 11, 2018.

About CSU Summer Arts

CSU Summer Arts is an international summer arts program of master classes and a festival of the arts. It's a place where profound learning and entertainment converge, creating an inspired educational environment. During the day, students study alongside some of the greats in their fields and at night a public arts festival gives the community an opportunity to experience the amazing talent of our guest artists.
