“The CSU is key to California’s brightest and most hopeful future, opening the door to educational opportunities for all and transforming the lives of students and their families. In a learning environment enriched by the diverse strengths of our students, we create leaders who will bring new vision and strength to their communities, to California, and indeed, to our nation and the world.”

Timothy P. White
Chancellor, California State University
INTRODUCTION

The California State University promotes student success through opportunity and a high-quality education that prepares students to become leaders in the changing workforce, making the CSU a vital economic engine for California.
THE CSU
- is the nation’s largest four-year public university system, with 23 campuses and eight off-campus centers.
- educates the most ethnically, economically and academically diverse student body in the nation.
- is renowned for the quality of its teaching and preparing job-ready graduates.
- educates approximately 481,000 students.
- employs nearly 53,000 faculty and staff.
- stretches 800 miles from Humboldt in the north to San Diego in the south.
- has conferred degrees on more than 3.7 million living alumni.
The CSU strives to create a welcoming environment for all members of the campus communities. This commitment to “Inclusive Excellence” is manifested in students who make up the most ethnically, economically and academically diverse student body in the nation, attaining higher levels of success than ever as completion rates continue to reach all-time highs. The CSU is an engine for social mobility as those students earn high-quality educations that propel them into higher economic strata.

The CSU provides more than half of all undergraduate degrees earned by California’s Latino, African American and Native American students. Twenty-one of 23 CSUs are currently recognized by the Department of Education as Hispanic-Serving Institutions (HSIs), colleges and universities with a Latino student enrollment of at least 25 percent.

The CSU creates opportunity for the diverse students of California to reach their educational goals and become leading citizens. Nearly one-third of CSU students are the first in their families to attend college and more than half of CSU graduates are the first in their families to earn a degree.

The CSU plays a critical role in providing future leaders with the skills and knowledge they’ll need to thrive in the workforce and help drive California’s economy. The CSU produces more than half the state’s bachelor’s degrees, sending nearly 126,000 job-ready graduates into the workforce each year.

The CSU prepares students for success through leading-edge programs, superior teaching and scholarly activity. High-quality academic programs reflect California’s current and future workforce demands in emerging fields such as cybersecurity, software engineering, sustainable business and environmental technology.

Through the caliber of its academic programs and a university-wide commitment to student achievement, the CSU is dedicated to fostering leaders. Across the campuses and in communities throughout the state, the CSU’s faculty, staff, students and alumni are addressing critical issues facing our state and nation.

The CSU system was created in 1960 under the California Master Plan for Higher Education. The CSU draws its students from the top third of the state’s high school graduates and is California’s primary undergraduate teaching institution. Continuing to expand its educational scope and help meet California’s workforce demands for skilled professionals, the CSU offers independent doctorates in audiology, education, nursing practice and physical therapy programs at numerous campuses. The doctor of philosophy is also offered through a joint partnership with other public and private universities in California.
GRADUATION INITIATIVE 2025

Graduation Initiative 2025 aims to increase graduation rates for all CSU students while eliminating opportunity and achievement gaps. Through this initiative the CSU will ensure that all students have the opportunity to graduate in a timely manner according to their personal goals, positively impacting their future and producing the graduates needed to power California and the nation.
Since its launch in 2016, the initiative has already seen success in bringing completion rates to all-time highs in all categories and narrowing equity gaps between underserved students and their peers.

In 2017-18, the CSU graduated 6,600 more students than the previous year, resulting in more than 105,000 undergraduate degrees conferred.

GRADUATE STUDIES

- In fall 2018, the CSU enrolled 52,848 postbaccalaureate/graduate students.
- 19,933 master’s degrees were awarded in 2017-18.
- Doctor of audiology, doctor of education, doctor of nursing, doctor of philosophy and doctor of physical therapy programs serve 2,168 doctoral students from diverse backgrounds, preparing them for top leadership roles.

APPLYING

Students planning to enter the CSU can apply through the online application tool, Cal State Apply, at calstate.edu/apply.

Due to the large number of applicants, some CSU campuses have higher standards (supplementary admission criteria) for particular majors or for students who live outside the local campus area. Campuses utilize local admission guarantee policies for students who graduate or transfer from high schools and community colleges that are historically served by a CSU campus in that region.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Freshman Students

First-time freshman applicants must meet the standards in each of the following areas:
- Complete specific high school coursework.
- Achieve suitable grades in specified courses and tests.
- Graduate from high school.

Transfer and Graduate Students

The majority of transfer students enter as upper-division transfers and must complete at least 60 semester or 90 quarter units before transferring. Students who have earned an Associate Degree for Transfer will be admitted to the CSU with junior status.

To apply for admissions to graduate or postbaccalaureate studies, a student must:
- Earn a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution with at least a 2.5 grade point average.
- Be in good academic standing, while satisfactorily meeting the professional, personal, scholastic and other standards for graduate study.
CSU TUITION FEES: 2018-19*
Undergraduate $5,742
Credential $6,660
Graduate/Postbaccalaureate $7,176
Audiology Doctorate $14,742
Education Doctorate $11,838
Nursing Practice Doctorate $15,270
Physical Therapy Doctorate $17,196
(Campus-based fees add an average of $1,561 to student costs.)

Graduate Business Professional Fee
State university tuition fee plus $270 per semester unit or $180 per quarter unit.

Out-of-State Students
State university tuition fee plus $396 per semester unit or $264 per quarter unit.

FINANCIAL AID
In 2017-18, over $4.5 billion was distributed to 390,000 students—81 percent of the CSU’s total student population. The average award was $11,550. Presidential Scholars’ programs, which provide full scholarships to National Merit and high school valedictorians, are also available at many CSU campuses.

CSU students are encouraged to apply the knowledge gained in the classroom to find solutions to real-world problems through involvement in applied research and service learning. Under the guidance of world-renowned faculty who are experts in their fields, students develop leadership skills while impacting their communities.
RESEARCH, SCHOLARSHIP AND CREATIVE ACTIVITIES

CSU research, scholarship and creative activity positively impact student success and faculty excellence by providing opportunities to investigate and solve the issues facing California’s diverse communities, the nation and the world.

2017-18 Highlights:

• The CSU received nearly $648 million in external funding, an increase of $58 million over the prior year.
• The CSU launched a systemwide community of more than 150 researchers to pursue answers to California’s climate change challenges.
• Ten multi-campus affinity groups focus on topics including agriculture, biotechnology, desert, coast and ocean, human health, social sciences and water.
• All 23 CSU campuses were connected by the new STEM NET affinity group, which better enables faculty to share best practices in science, technology, engineering and mathematics and produce scholarship and advancements that power California’s future.

• CCE partnered with more than 5,500 community organizations and made available nearly 3,500 service-learning courses for more than 67,500 students who contributed 1.5 million hours of service to their communities.
• CSU campuses and CCE raised $6 million to support community engagement, a return on investment of $6 for every dollar invested by the state.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT IN THE CSU
The establishment of the CSU Center for Community Engagement (CCE) in 1998—the first of its kind in the nation—has paved the way for many firsts, including the institutionalization of service learning across all 23 CSU campuses and the establishment of California’s Call to Service Initiative. Today, CCE actively advances the CSU’s commitment to inclusivity, equity and student success through high-quality community programs and scholarship.
The CSU’s operating budget has two main funding sources: the state general fund and student tuition fees. State funding now covers slightly more than half of the CSU’s operating costs, with tuition fees making up for the remainder. Auxiliaries and philanthropic support generates additional revenue needed for essential services that supplement state-supported activities.

Auxiliary Organizations

Auxiliary organizations are entrepreneurial and service-oriented, providing a wide array of support services, programs and facilities that further the educational mission of the CSU. Approximately 90 self-supporting auxiliary organizations operate without State General Fund money and are organized on each campus as separate legal entities.

In 2017-18:

- Auxiliaries managed $4.8 billion, representing 24 percent of the CSU’s $19.5 billion combined total assets.
- Auxiliary revenues reached $2 billion, representing 17 percent of the $11.7 billion combined total revenues.
- Auxiliaries managed $586.2 million, representing 22 percent of the $2.7 billion combined total contracts and grants revenues.

For more information about CSU auxiliaries go to AUXILIARY.CALSTATE.EDU
PHILANTHROPIC SUPPORT
This past year, donors continued to grow the lasting impact of philanthropic support to the university. Over $482 million in charitable gift commitments support systemwide and campus efforts committed to transforming lives through inclusion, education and opportunity.

In 2017-18:
- Gifts from individuals totaled $151 million from 261,874 individual donors.
- Alumni donors numbered 93,672. Gifts from alumni made up 41 percent of individual giving, with $62 million in contributions.
- Gifts from organizations totaled $158.2 million, including $63.5 million from foundations.
- $64.4 million from corporations, including 2,626 matching gifts, were received.
- Donors contributed more than $309 million in charitable gift receipts – cash, securities, in-kind contributions, irrevocable future commitments and private charitable grants.
- Total endowment market value reached $1.7 billion systemwide.
Responsibility for the CSU is vested in a 25-member Board of Trustees, the majority of whom are appointed by the governor to eight-year terms. Faculty, alumni and two student trustees serve two-year terms. The trustees appoint the chancellor, who is the system’s chief executive officer, and the presidents, who are the chief executive officers of their respective campuses and report to the chancellor. The trustees, chancellor and presidents develop systemwide policies.

The most diverse university in the nation, the CSU also celebrated a milestone related to the diversity of campus leadership in July 2018. With appointment of new presidents on the Bakersfield and San Diego campuses, for the first time in university history, the majority of campuses were led by a woman.
