Students enrolling at the California State University embark upon a transformative journey of learning and discovery that will forever enrich their lives. As graduates, they leave the CSU as dynamic, creative and compassionate leaders, prepared to help California—and indeed the world—meet the challenges of today and tomorrow.

Chancellor, California State University
INTRODUCTION

The California State University promotes student success through opportunity and a high-quality education that prepares students to become leaders in the changing workforce, making the CSU a vital economic engine for California.
THE CSU

• is the nation’s largest four-year public university, with 23 campuses and eight off-campus centers.
• educates the most ethnically, economically and academically diverse student body in the nation.
• is renowned for the quality of its teaching and preparing job-ready graduates.
• educates approximately 482,000 students.
• employs more than 53,000 faculty and staff.
• stretches 800 miles from Humboldt in the north to San Diego in the south.
• has conferred degrees on more than 3.8 million living alumni.
• turns 60 years old in 2020, celebrating six decades of readying graduates to fuel California’s economy.

OPPORTUNITY
The CSU creates opportunity for the diverse students of California to reach their educational goals and become leading citizens. Nearly one-third of CSU students are the first in their families to attend college.

PREPARATION
The CSU plays a critical role in providing future leaders with the skills and knowledge they’ll need to thrive in the workforce and help drive California’s economy. The CSU produces nearly half the state’s bachelor’s degrees, sending more than 127,000 job-ready graduates into the workforce each year.

QUALITY
The CSU prepares students for success through leading-edge programs, superior teaching and scholarly activity. High-quality academic programs reflect California’s current and future workforce demands in emerging fields such as cybersecurity, software engineering, sustainable business and environmental technology.

LEADERSHIP
Through the caliber of its academic programs and a university-wide commitment to student achievement, the CSU is dedicated to fostering leaders. Across the campuses and in communities throughout the state, the CSU’s faculty, staff, students and alumni are addressing critical issues facing our state and nation.

INCLUSIVE EXCELLENCE
The CSU strives to create a welcoming environment for all members of its campus communities. This commitment to inclusive excellence is manifested in students who make up the most ethnically, economically and academically diverse student body in the nation, attaining higher levels of success than ever as graduation rates continue to reach all-time highs. The CSU is an engine for social mobility as those students receive high-quality educations that propel them into higher economic strata. The CSU provides more than half of all undergraduate degrees earned by California’s Latinx, African American and Native American students combined. Twenty-one of 23 CSUs are currently recognized by the Department of Education as Hispanic-Serving Institutions (HSIs), colleges and universities with a Latinx student enrollment of at least 25 percent.

MASTER PLAN FOR HIGHER EDUCATION
The CSU was created in 1960 under the California Master Plan for Higher Education. The CSU draws its students from the top third of the state’s high school graduates and is California’s primary undergraduate teaching institution. Continuing to expand its educational scope and help meet California’s workforce demands for skilled professionals, the CSU offers independent doctorates in audiology, education, nursing practice and physical therapy at numerous campuses. Additionally, the CSU was recently authorized to offer the independent Doctor of Occupational Therapy. The Doctor of Philosophy is also offered through a joint partnership with other public and private universities in California.
Graduation Initiative 2025 aims to increase graduation rates for all CSU students while eliminating opportunity and achievement gaps. Through this initiative the CSU will ensure that all students have the opportunity to graduate in a timely manner according to their personal goals, positively impacting their future and producing the graduates needed to power California and the nation.
Since its launch in 2015, the initiative has already seen success in bringing completion rates to all-time highs in all categories and narrowing equity gaps between underserved students and their peers.

In 2018-19, the CSU graduated 1,888 more students than the previous year.

Students
GRADUATE STUDIES

- In fall 2019, the CSU enrolled 51,763 postbaccalaureate/graduate students.
- 19,545 master’s degrees were awarded in 2018-19.
- Doctor of Audiology, Doctor of Education, Doctor of Nursing, Doctor of Philosophy and Doctor of Physical Therapy programs serve more than 2,226 doctoral students from diverse backgrounds, preparing them for top leadership roles.

APPLYING

Students planning to enter the CSU can apply through the online application tool, Cal State Apply, at calstate.edu/apply.

Due to the large number of applicants, some CSU campuses have higher standards (supplementary admission criteria) for particular majors or for students who live outside the local campus area. Campuses utilize local admission guarantee policies for students who graduate or transfer from high schools and community colleges that are historically served by a CSU campus in that region.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Freshmen Students

First-time freshmen applicants must meet the standards in each of the following areas:
- Complete specific high school coursework.
- Achieve suitable grades in specified courses and on tests.
- Graduate from high school.

Transfer and Graduate Students

The majority of transfer students enter as upper-division transfers and must complete at least 60 semester or 90 quarter units before transferring. Students who have earned an Associate Degree for Transfer (ADT) will be admitted to the CSU with junior status.

To apply for admission to graduate or postbaccalaureate studies, a student must:
- Earn a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution with at least a 2.5 grade point average.
- Be in good academic standing while satisfactorily meeting the professional, personal, scholastic and other standards for graduate study.

CSU students are encouraged to apply the knowledge gained in the classroom to find solutions to real-world problems through involvement in applied research and service-learning. Under the guidance of world-renowned faculty who are experts in their fields, students develop leadership skills while benefiting their communities.
RESEARCH, SCHOLARSHIP AND CREATIVE ACTIVITY

CSU research, scholarship and creative activity contributes to the intellectual and creative vibrancy of campus life while offering solutions to California’s most pressing needs. As a high-impact practice, these activities are critical to fulfilling the CSU’s mission of fostering student success, faculty excellence and public impact.

2018-19 Highlights:

- The CSU received nearly $676 million in external funding, an increase of $28 million from the prior year.
- Three campuses—Long Beach, Northridge and San Francisco—received $54 million in Building Infrastructure Leading to Diversity (BUILD) grants, enabling faculty to continue supporting historically underrepresented students pursuing careers in biomedical research.
- Ten multi-campus affinity groups focus on topics including agriculture, biotechnology, desert, coast and ocean, human health, social sciences and water.
- Faculty scholarship benefits students, particularly as faculty weave their research into curricula and include students in the process. From 2014-2019, CSU faculty have authored 38,000 journal publications, the majority of which included student coauthors.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT AT THE CSU
The establishment of the CSU Center for Community Engagement (CCE) in 1998—the first of its kind in the nation—has paved the way for many firsts, including the institutionalization of service-learning across all 23 CSU campuses and the establishment of California’s Call to Service Initiative. Today, CCE actively advances the CSU’s commitment to inclusivity, equity and student success through high-quality community programs and scholarship.

In 2018-19:
• Centers for Community Engagement and Service-Learning, in partnership with 1,400 CSU faculty and 6,000 community organizations, made available more than 3,100 service-learning courses.
• More than 67,000 CSU students—14% of the total student population—contributed 1.1 million hours of service to their communities through service-learning.

6,000 COMMUNITY PARTNERS
67,000 STUDENT VOLUNTEERS
$1.1 MILLION HOURS OF SERVICE
The CSU’s operating budget has two main funding sources: the state General Fund and student tuition fees. State funding now covers slightly more than half of the CSU’s operating costs, with tuition fees making up for the remainder. Auxiliaries and philanthropic support generate additional revenue needed for essential services that supplement state-supported activities.
AUXILIARY ORGANIZATIONS

Auxiliary organizations are entrepreneurial and service-oriented, providing a wide array of support services, programs and facilities that further the educational mission of the CSU. Approximately 90 self-supporting auxiliary organizations operate without state General Fund money and are organized on each campus as separate legal entities.

In 2018-19:
- Auxiliaries managed $5 billion, representing 24 percent of the CSU’s $20.6 billion combined total assets.
- Auxiliary revenues reached $2 billion, representing 17 percent of the $11.6 billion combined total revenues.
- $630.6 million, 23 percent of the $2.8 billion combined total of contracts and grants revenues, was managed by auxiliaries.

PHILANTHROPIC SUPPORT

In 2018-19, philanthropic support for the CSU reached all-time highs. The university received nearly $570 million in gift commitments and over $370 million in gift receipts from more than 268,000 individual donors—all three figures surpassing previous records. This powerful support is a testament to the confidence that donors have in the CSU to propel the state of California forward and create positive change in our communities.

In 2018-19:

- Gifts from individuals totaled $157 million from 268,108 individual donors.
- Alumni donors numbered 90,303. Gifts from alumni made up 40 percent of individual giving, with $64 million in contributions.
- Gifts from organizations totaled $213.7 million, including $114 million from foundations.
- $64.6 million from corporations, including 2,521 matching gifts, were received.
- Donors contributed more than $370 million in charitable gift receipts—cash, securities, in-kind contributions, irrevocable future commitments and private charitable grants.
- Total endowment market value reached $1.8 billion university-wide, another all-time high.
Responsibility for the CSU is vested in a 25-member Board of Trustees, the majority of whom are appointed by the governor to eight-year terms. Faculty, alumni and two student trustees serve two-year terms. The trustees appoint the chancellor, who is the university’s chief executive officer, and the presidents, who are the chief executive officers of their respective campuses and report to the chancellor. The trustees, chancellor and presidents develop university-wide policies.
