engineering and each one feeds into one or more majors at the baccalaureate level. The four discipline clusters are Mechanical, Aerospace, and Manufacturing engineering, Civil engineering, electrical engineering, and computer and software engineering. The model curriculum (MC) falls outside of SB 1440/440 and is not subject to the limits and mandates associated with such legislation. As a result, MCs will not obligate colleges to develop MC-aligned degrees or certificates. Each college may determine if the model curriculum is appropriate for their program and students.

Unless SB 1440/440 rules are expanded to allow for transfer degrees that are more than 120 units, or to explicitly include MCs or ISMC, it is not feasible at this time to provide for admission guarantees for any Model Curriculum.

- iv. AS-3383-19/APEP: In Support of “The Strategic Advantage of the Distinctiveness of the Twenty-Three Campuses of the California State University System” (Board of Trustees, November 2008)

We recognize the distinctiveness of each of the campuses as an advantage to the CSU. We also recognize that there may be times when our efforts need to be aligned in order to best serve our students. It is important for all of us to keep that balance in mind as we make decisions affecting the future of the university.

- v. AS-3384-19/APEP: On the Academic Senate CCC (ASCCC) Resolution 5.02. S19 “Support for the CSU United States History, Constitution and American Ideals commonly known as American Institutions Requirement”

We acknowledge the efforts of the California Community College to align their curricula with ours to encourage smooth transfer and completion.
