RATIONALE: Fresno State President Joseph I. Castro has been appointed as the eighth Chancellor of the CSU. According to a press release, "Dr. Castro is a passionate and effective advocate for his students, his campus and the CSU – in his local community, in Sacramento and in Washington, D.C.," said Lillian Kimbell, chair of the CSU Board of Trustees. "Above all, he is a leader who inspires greatness in students, faculty and in the broader community. He is the right leader for the California State University in our current circumstance and for our future."

CSU Faculty Trustee Romey Sabalius notes that Dr. Joe Castro has a record of involvement and success in the CSU (e.g. great improvement of graduation rates at Fresno, established excellent connections and collaboration with community colleges and high schools). He also points out that Dr. Castro is the first California-born and first Mexican-American Chancellor, and that First Lady Mary G. Castro was very involved with campus activities and community work.

Fresno State Academic Senate Chair Thomas Holyoke summed up his thoughts on Dr. Joe Castro with the following comments: "...quiet and very thoughtful because he is always listening to people and considering his response before opening his mouth; very dedicated to students, and enjoys spending time with them; never, ever raises his voice or gets angry; listens to faculty concerns and always gives an answer, even if it is not the answer you wanted; very respectful of other people regardless of background and life experience; enormous empathy; never forgot where he came from, including the poverty and the sacrifices his parents and grandparents made; humble and self-effacing, always admits his mistakes and is open to the idea that he might have made a mistake."

ASCSU Academic Affairs Committee Chair and Fresno State faculty member Susan Schlievert commends Dr. Joe Castro and his wife, Mary, for their advocacy for removing basic need barriers for students; his vision of the university and communities working together to develop talent and realize human potential; his steady communication with and response to constituents; and his willingness to "be bold" as he shepherds the CSU into the future.
